

EMERGENCY RESPONDER TRAINING

A Seminar for Firefighters, Police, 911 Operators and Emergency Management Personnel

Sever weather can bring damaging windstorms and flooding which have the potential to affect both electric and natural gas systems. Make sure you're registered for one of Puget Sound Energy's 2010 Emergency Responder Training programs. This interactive half-day course includes:

- A live demonstration of the characteristics of natural gas and high-voltage electricity
- How to identify and manage a variety of emergency situations involving PSE facilities
- An overview of PSE's response coordination and procedures

Classes are being held on the dates listed at the following locations:
